

DEMO SAMPLE: Landing page copy

Portfolio sample. Not client work. "Ledgerleaf" is a fictional bookkeeping service made up by Edgex to show structure and tone. It has no real clients, prices or results. Written with AI assistance and reviewed before publishing.

Brief used (invented for the demo): monthly bookkeeping for freelancers and one-person businesses in the US. Goal of the page: book a free intro call. Tone: calm, plain, reassuring.

Meta title (48 chars): Monthly Bookkeeping for Freelancers | Ledgerleaf

Meta description (143 chars): Ledgerleaf keeps your books tidy every month, so tax season is a checklist, not a crisis. Flat monthly price. Start with a free 20-minute call.

Hero

Your books, done every month. Not every April.

Ledgerleaf keeps your income and expenses sorted as you go, so tax time is a quick hand-off to your accountant, not a lost weekend.

[Book a free 20-minute call] No contract. Cancel any month.

The problem

You started freelancing to do the work you're good at. Not to chase receipts at midnight.

- Transactions pile up across two bank accounts and a card.
- You're never sure what you can spend, or what to set aside for tax.
- Every April starts with a shoebox and a sinking feeling.

How it works

1. Connect. Give read-only access to your bank and card accounts.
2. We sort. Every transaction is categorized each month.
3. You see it. A one-page summary lands in your inbox by the 10th.

What you get each month

- Categorized transactions, reconciled to your statements
- Profit and loss summary in plain English
- A "set aside for tax" estimate to discuss with your accountant
- Year-end file ready for your tax preparer

Who it's for

Freelancers, consultants and creatives with one business and no bookkeeper. If you have payroll or inventory, we'll tell you on the call if we're not the right fit.

Pricing

One flat monthly price, [price set by client]. No hourly bills.

FAQ

Do you file my taxes? No. We keep the books; your tax preparer files. We hand them a clean year-end file.

Is my data safe? We use read-only access. We can't move money.

Can I cancel? Yes, any month, with no fee.

Final call to action

Spend April on anything but receipts.

Headline variants for testing:

- A: Your books, done every month. Not every April.
- B: Stop doing your bookkeeping at midnight.
- C: Tidy books, every month, for one flat price.

Notes for the (fictional) client: the tax-estimate line and "read-only access" claim must match how the service really works. Confirm both before publishing.
